THE ASSESSMENT BILL. A feature of the assessment bill is its purpose of reaching stocks, bonds, securities and the property of corporations and companies operating upon a large industrial scale. The measure will make very little difference to the farmer so far as the character of property valued is concerned. The average tiller of the soil is not a "bloated bondholder," and will pay taxes on his realty and personalty as heretofore. What it is claimed the measure will do for him is to reduce his State tax bills. A lower State tax rate, it is claimed, will result from a predicted increase of the State's taxable basis, this increase to arise from the taxing of property hitherto exempt. Some have even gone so far as to say that the State rate would be reduced one half. What the effect upon the county tax rate, of Howard county for instance, would be, does not appear so readily. The great bulk of property to be added to the taxable basis of the State is in Baltimore city. The bringing in of this property will of course reduce every form of tax rates there. But in counties where the property of every description is all pretty well reached, the benefits of the new law will consist mainly in the reduced State tax rate. If the new assessment in a given county shows a shrinkage in real estate values, and such values are the principal ingredient of the county's taxable basis, there being few resident holders of stocks, bonds, securities and the like, the lower State tax rate might be accompanied with a higher county tax rate. Therefore it may be well for country tax-payers, in some sections at least, not to be overment bill should it become a law. Still we do not speak with dogmatic assurance, and while guarding against disappointment, we do not cease to hope for The bill exempts the property of religious, educational and literary institutions, cemeteries not conducted for profit, government property, State or Federal. Neither does the act apply to "the real or personal property of any corporation incorporated by this State and having capital stock divided into shares when said shares of said corporation are only subject to taxation under the laws of this State; nor to any shares of stock in any corporation when said shares of stock are exempted by irrepealable contract with this State from taxation under the laws thereof; nor to any property of any corporation whose shares of capital stock are exempted from taxation when said property is protected from taxation by the exemption of said shares from taxation; nor to the shares of stock of railroad companies worked by steam, incorporated by or under the laws of this State, which are subject to State taxation upon their gross receipts within this State, and to county and municipal taxation upon their respective real and personal taxable properties in the respective counties and cities of this State in which such respective propties are located, nor the book accounts or bills receivable, or evidences of debt given for such accounts of any person engaged in commercial business who is taxed upon a fair average value of his stock of goods, wares and merchandise; and every person engaged in commercial business shall be taxed upon the fair average value of his stock in such business during the year preceding the assessment upon which such tax is levied; nor to the value of such portions of the shares of homestead or building associations as may be represented by mortgage upon real or leasehold property within this State when such real or men's skill. leasehold estate so mortgaged is subject to taxation under the laws of thi State, nor to the mortgage debts secured thereby, nor to mortgages wholly within this State, nor to mortgage debts secured thereby except bonds and certificates of debts bearing interest issued by any railroad corporation or other corpora tion of this State, secured by mortgage of property wholly within this State which shall be liable to assessment and taxation." Wearing apparel, with the exception of watches and expensive jewelry, is exempted, also mechanics' tools used by hand, and fish in the hands of fishermen or their agents. All other Contains all the newest shapes in Men's property, personal or real of every de- and Boys' Headgear. See our Derbys scription, is to be taxed.

Howard and Montgomery counties, under the law, will each constitute one as sessment district. Each of the thirteen election districts of Baltimore county will constitute an assessment district, Anne Arundel county will be divided into three districts, Carroll into four, Frederick into six, Prince George's into three, and Baltimore city into twenty three. There are to be three assessors in each district, and assessors must be property owners and taxpayers. Three persons also in each county will con stitute a board of control and review. The appointment of these shall be made by the Governor, and the pay of appointees in the counties is to be $3.50 for each day of actual service, and $5 in Baltimore. The work of the assessors shall begin on the first Tuesday in May evrywhere except in Baltimore county. where the third Tuesday in July is the time set. The boards of control and review will assemble at county seats on the second Tuesday in September. Lists of taxable personal property will be sent by mail to taxpayers two days before the assessors call, and persons receiving such lists must fill them out under a penalty of fine. Misrepresentations under oath are punishable by fine or imprisonment or both.

In addition to the lists made this year additional lists are te be made by pro perty-owners once in each four years hereafter, such lists to contain any additional property that may be acquired. The work of assessment will be under the general direction of the State Tax Commissioner.

As THE TIMES goes to press there is much doubt as to whether the Governor will sign the bill.
